

"Just-what-you-need" Coats for Women

Every woman looks forward with great interest to the new styles in separate coats. They are one thing that a woman feels that she must have every winter, the one thing she really needs.

This year they are more attractive than ever. Made in warm, heavy, but not cumbersome materials, some rough, some smooth; in a variety of plain colors; in gorgeous plaids and checks—they are truly delightful.

The model illustrated on the right is a splendid example of the season's newest designs in separate coats. Its snug-fitting collar is almost airtight. Note the cuff effect and the smart flare which is held in at the waist in the front by a half belt. Isn't it just the coat for cold, blustery days?

Another one that is already very popular is of boucle. Its extreme simplicity of cut makes it ideal for everyday wear, but it would be almost impossible to find a coat of better lines or smarter cut.

Many others just as interesting and attractive are now on display. Your wardrobe is hardly complete without one of them. They're "just what you need." Inexpensively priced, too.

Hiatt Saturday and Sunday.—W. R. Brown of Louisville, was with Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Elder during the week.—The revival at the Baptist church closed last Friday night with nine additions to the church. Wheel- don is quite sick with typhoid fever.—Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Smith and Miss Bessie, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Robins Sunday.—Mrs. J. W. Proctor, 60, died at her home Monday night of last week, after a lingering illness of several months. She was a devoted member of Brodhead Christian church and a noble woman. She realized for many weeks that she could not recover, and told her husband, children and friends that she was prepared for the final summons, and while she realized that it was impossible for many of the people of Brodhead to accompany her remains to Providence, near her old home and where she requested to be buried, she asked that they go to the end of the concrete walk in that direction, and accordingly a large number, together with all the school children, responded. About twenty or probably more accompanied the remains to Providence where the Rev. D. Edgar Allen held funeral services. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved.—Higbie Baker offered his resignation as Town Marshal last Wednesday, which was accepted, and the Board immediately appointed C. H. Frith in his stead. We feel complimented that the Board was fortunate in securing his services, and believe that they made a wise choice.—There will be singing at the Christian church next Saturday and Sunday at 7 p. m., and everybody is cordially invited to attend. These singings are conducted by Prof. W. A. Owens, and are free. Why not come and get the benefit. Such opportunities seldom come.—Rev. R. B. Baker filled his regular appointment at the Christian church last Saturday and Sunday. He announced that he had secured the services of the Rev. W. J. Hudspeth, of Lexington, to hold a revival here, beginning about the fourth Saturday in November. Rev. Hudspeth is State Evangelist for Kentucky and one of the most able ministers in the state.—C. H. Frith, A. M. Hiatt, Rev. A. J. Pike, Judge A. J. Haggard, W. H. Sowder were in Mt. Vernon Monday to hear J. C. W. Beckham speak.—An Agricultural Fair will be held at the Graded School building the 9th and 10th of November. A number of able speakers have been secured. Full programme will appear later.—Mrs. J. F. ### DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Moonlight Schools.

A lengthy article in the Louisville Evening Post on the subject of Moonlight Schools and illiterates says:

That they can be educated is shown by the experience of Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, of Morehead Rowan county, in that direction.

She was raised in that county, educated at the public schools, and showing unusual ability and ambition, was taken by the Baptists and sent away to complete her education, which she did, and then returned to Morehead strongly imbued with the idea that she could educate the illiterates in her own county and proceeded to study the conditions carefully.

As she was the Superintendent of Schools in Rowan county, she outlined her plans to the teachers in that county and called for volunteers and all of them responded and a systematic canvass of the homes of the people was made in September, 1911, and her plans explained to the people.

The Moonlight School

Briefly, she proposed to organize night schools, but as the roads were poor, often impassible, and the distances great, she could only have her classes on bright nights, and thus they were soon called moonlight schools.

Primarily, they were organized for the adults, and in the beginning she found many of them, while anxious to learn, shy and unwilling to acknowledge their ignorance before their neighbors.

The census of 1910 showed that there were 1,150 adult illiterates in Rowan county, and many fathers and mothers came to her on Saturday and Sunday from miles around to get her to read to them letters that they had received from absent members of their families, and to write for them their answers, so that that she soon had a class of adults who came to her secretly to be taught to read and write; during the first year she had 1,200 students enrolled in these moonlight schools, and there are now 200,000 of our adult citizens enrolled in these schools of our cities.

What This County Shows.

The results are simply astounding.

In Rowan county the number of adult illiterates has been reduced from 1,150 in 1910 to only twenty-three at the present time.

Mrs. Stewart has appeared before our State Legislature and before a meeting in Nashville, Tenn. of the Southern Educational Association, at which latter meeting she was listened to by P. P. Claxton, National Commissioner of Education, who became so enthusiastic over her work that he has incorporated a result of it in his Bulletin No. 20, above referred to.

The rapidity with which some of these adults learn to read and write is astonishing.

One man, aged thirty, after four lessons in the school, wrote the superintendent a legible letter.

Another man, aged fifty, wrote a legible letter after seven nights attendance.

A woman, aged seventy, wrote a legible letter after eight nights study.

The Forward Movement.

In June of the present year Mrs. Stewart found herself in Louisville, full of enthusiasm for the continuance of her work, but with no money behind her to equip her schools. She appeared before a body of women, who ascertained the true situation, and after consideration authorized her to go ahead with her organization, and they would in turn put into operation a movement during the fall which would spread abroad a knowledge of the true conditions, and they thereby hoped to secure the funds to equip the schools until the Legislature was again in session.

The work of these ladies is known as "The Forward Movement," and their slogans are:

"Let everybody who can read and write help everybody who cannot," and "Educate the man for the sake of the State; educate the mother for the sake of the child."

These ladies have an active campaign laid out for the week from Sunday, November 15, to Sunday, November 22, and it is their hope to interest this entire community in this work; they will not solicit contributions, but they do want and ask for voluntary contributions.

What has been done in Rowan county can be done in every county of the State, and the question that is up to us is, "How are we going to aid this forward movement?"

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

There are many times when one man questions another's actions and motives. Men act differently under different circumstances. The question is, what would you do right now if you had a severe cold? Could you do better than to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended by people who have used it for years and knows its value. Mrs. O. E. Sargent, Fern, Ind., says, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is worth its weight in gold and I take pleasure in recommending it." For sale by all dealers.
